

You Should Be the Change You Wish to See in the World
By Alicia M. Phidd

You should be the change you wish to see
Words uttered by Mahatma Ghandi
If you claim you are for the community
Then take the time to build that community
If you claim to love children
Take the time to show love to a child
Not just your child, any child.
Not just some time, all the time.

Changeto transform or make different
Are you making a difference?
Or are you the “whitewash” of change
Status Quo...looks different but the same.

“Talk is Cheap”... cliché but true
Find a cause, get involved, do some thing new
Don't worry about how it will be received
Change is always met with resistance
To deter the new position
But imagine the world if there were no changes
Imagine your life stagnant and not going places
You don't have to be the originator of the change
Just have conviction, follow the “right” leader and participate

Life's purpose is more than financial wealth
Take an interest in your neighbor alive
Not when he's dead
For once, talk to each other in person,
Pretend
There's no t.v. or internet
You should be the change you wish to see
Words uttered by Mahatma Ghandi
